EXPLANATIONS

* The verification of the above documents according to The Hague Convention (APOSTILLE) is done by the relevant authority in the country where they were issued. More information here. For those countries that have not ratified the Hague Convention (i.e Apostille cannot be obtained) or Greece has raised objections, and only for them, the verification is done by the Consular Authorities of Greece in the country where the documents have been issued. For more information: Citizens and Greeks Abroad Service and Information Centre \(KEPPAE\) – Authentication Department of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

In cases where the foreign supporting document bears the Hague Convention Apostille (Apostille / e-Apostille) and it can be verified through the electronic register (e-Register) of the issuing country's competent authority, the submission of a certified copy by a lawyer in Greece is not required. A necessary prerequisite is that the member state supports the e-APP (Electronic Apostille Programme) and maintains an active digital verification register. You can find information regarding the services available per country via the following links.
